The Harris family has been a part of The Callaway Bank since it was established in 1857 with Thomas Berry Harris serving as one of the original organizers. Strong leadership, dependable, loyal employees, dedicated shareholders and supportive communities have all played a part in the bank's existence in Callaway County for 155 years. They stand firm on the bank's Core Values of fairness, integrity, honesty and respect. As the oldest independent, locally owned community bank in the state of Missouri (some even say West of the Mississippi) they realize the importance of giving back to the communities they serve. "John C. Harris has taught us when you rely on communities to keep your doors open... you owe them. You must give back", states Bruce T. Harris. President & CEO.
